

BLUEPRINT FOR A SINCERE APOLOGY

Write or draw what you did that was hurtful:

Write or draw how that person reacted to your hurtful behavior:

Write or draw how you could have handled the situation with no one getting hurt:

Write or draw how you can right your wrong by making up for that hurt:

This Blueprint of a Sincere Apology is a variation of the four-square apology found in Zach Apologizes by William Mulcahy (Free Spirit Publishing, 2012). Here's the Free Spirit Website link for teachers to download a printable copy of their Four-Square Apology for use in their classroom: www.freespirit.com/Apology
